

SCENE #1: INTRODUCTION

SLIDE #1.1

TITLE SLIDE

MAKING DECISIONS

The Four Frames Model

START

SLIDE #1: 2

CHALLENGING THE MYTH OF CLUELESS MANAGERS

CHALLENGING THE MYTH OF CLUELESS MANAGERS

CHALLENGING THE MYTH OF CLUELESS MANAGERS

Change her pose?

CHALLENGING THE MYTH OF CLUELESS MANAGERS

Why is she so clueless?

He isn't thinking about the impact on our team!

MAKING DECISIONS

The Four Frames Model

- ✓ Avoid single-perspective thinking
- ✓ Analyze situations from multiple perspectives
- ✓ Make informed leadership choices

Change his pose

SCENE 2:

DEFINING THE FRAMES

SLIDE #2.1

THE FOUR FRAMES MODEL FOR DECISION MAKING

THE FOUR FRAMES MODEL

PREV

NEXT

THE FOUR FRAMES

PREV

NEXT

THE FOUR FRAMES

PREV

NEXT

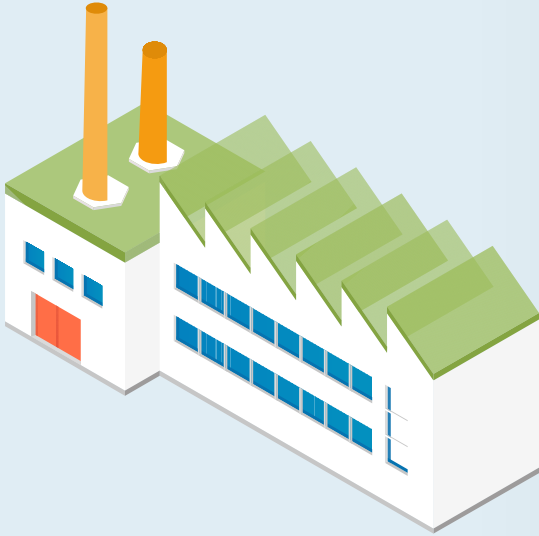

THE FOUR FRAMES

PREV

NEXT

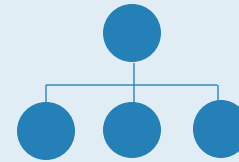

FACTORY

BACK

STRUCTURAL

- Track performance metrics
- Clarify roles and responsibilities
- Align structures with strategic objectives

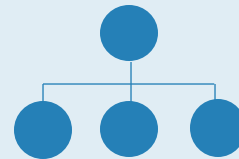

THEATER

BACK

SYMBOLIC

- ◆ Celebrate rituals and symbols.
- ◆ Align actions with shared values.
- ◆ Create a compelling organizational narrative.

FAMILY

BACK

JUNGLE

BACK

SCENE 3: NEW MANAGER SCENARIOS

SLIDE #3.1

CHOOSE SCENARIO

NEW MANAGER SCENARIOS

SCENARIO 1:
BILL & CINDY - STOP TIME

SLIDE #3.2

NEW MANAGER CINDY

CHALLENGING CONVERSATION

CHALLENGING CONVERSATION

CHALLENGING CONVERSATION

CHALLENGING CONVERSATION

As she enters, she sees Bill behind the desk in a conversation with two other staff members. She says hello, and he responds by saying, “Didn’t the secretary tell you that we’re in a meeting right now? If you’ll wait outside, I’ll be able to see you in about an hour.”

What should she do? She’s in the glare of the spotlight, and the audience eagerly awaits her response. If she feels threatened or attacked—as most of us would—those feelings will push her toward either fight or flight. Escalating the conflict is risky and could damage future relationships. Backing away or fleeing could suggest that she is too emotional or not tough enough.

This is a classic example of a manager’s nightmare: an

NEX

SLIDE #3.3

CINDY CONSIDERS FRAMES

CHALLENGING CONVERSATION

PREV

NEXT

CHALLENGING CONVERSATION

NEXT

Slide Triggers

▼ Layer - ST1 User Response

Set state of Next button - "NEXT" to Normal

When the timeline ends on this layer

Object Triggers

▼ Compass

Lightbox 4.1 Lightbox: The Four Frames Model

When the user clicks Compass

▼ Next button

Show layer ST2 Power Play

When the user clicks Next button

▼ Prev button

Hide layer this layer

When the user clicks Prev button

▼ User answer

Set StructuralOriginalResponse equal to the typed value

When User answer loses focus

STRUCTURAL

Bill: Didn't the secretary tell you that we're in a meeting right now? If you'll wait outside, I'll be able to see you in about an hour.

Cindy: She didn't mention it, and I don't want to interrupt important work, but we also need to set some priorities and work out an agenda for the day anyway. Bill, have you developed a plan for how you and I can get to work on the transition?

Bill: We can meet later, after I get through some pressing business.

Accessible Brand Colors

View compliance level:

- ☒ AAA Pass (7+)
- ☒ AA Pass (4.5+)
- ☒ AA18 Pass, Large Text Only (3+)
- ☒ DNP Does Not Pass

Faded version of 4 frame colors are accessible for conversation headers

SCENARIO #2: RAMIFICATIONS

Scenario #2: Calm & Confident

Recognize employee contributions

Foster a positive workplace culture

Nurture employee professional growth

Encourage team collaboration

Here, Cindy avoids a battle and acknowledges Howard's perspective. She recognizes Bill's concern but calmly communicates her confidence and focus on moving ahead. She demonstrates an important skill of a human resource leader: the ability to combine advocacy with inquiry. She listens carefully to Bill but gently stands her ground. She asks for his help while expressing confidence that she can do the job. She expresses part of her philosophy—she prefers to trust her staff's judgment—and positions herself as an observer, thus gaining an opportunity to learn more about her staff and the issues they are addressing. By reframing the situation, she has gotten off to a better start with Bill and is able to signal to others the kind of people-oriented leader she intends to be.

POLITICAL FRAME: SCENARIO #2

I know, Bill; he's told me that. In fact, I just came from his office. If you'd like, we could both go see him right now.

Uh, no, not right now.

Well, then, let's get on with it. Do you want to finish what you were discussing, or is this a good time for us to develop some agreement on how we're going to work together?

SCENARIO #1: POWER PLAY

Didn't the secretary tell you that we're in a meeting right now? If you'll wait outside, I'll be able to see you in about an hour.

My appointment as manager of this office began at nine this morning. This is now my office, and you're sitting behind my desk. Either you relinquish the desk immediately, or I will call headquarters and report you for insubordination.

I was asked to stay on the job for one more week to try to help you learn the ropes. Frankly, I doubt that you're ready for this job, but you don't seem to want any help.

SYMBOLIC FRAME: SCENARIO #2

Look, you don't know the first thing about how this department functions. Before you go off on some customer crusade, you ought to learn a little about how we do things.

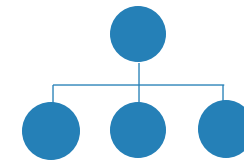

There's a lot I can learn from all of you, and I'm eager to get started. For example, I'm very interested in your ideas on how we can make this a department where as soon as people walk in, they get the sense that this is a place where people care, are responsive, and genuinely want to be helpful. I'd like that to be true for anyone who comes in—a staff member, a customer, or just someone who got lost and came into the wrong office. That's not the message I got from my initiation just now, but I'm sure we can think of lots of ways to change that. How does that fit with your image of what the department should be like?

Start Over Share

Text	#F1CBC4	#595959	#F7D4A3	#D2E1EB	#DDE8C6
Background
#F1CBC4		Normal Large Bold Large ✓ AA 4.70	Normal Large Bold Large ✗ DNP 1.06	Normal Large Bold Large ✗ DNP 1.12	Normal Large Bold Large ✗ DNP 1.17
#595959	Normal Large Bold Large ✓ AA 4.70		Normal Large Bold Large ✓ AA 4.97	Normal Large Bold Large ✓ AA 5.24	Normal Large Bold Large ✓ AA 5.48
#F7D4A3	Normal Large Bold Large ✗ DNP 1.06	Normal Large Bold Large ✓ AA 4.97		Normal Large Bold Large ✗ DNP 1.05	Normal Large Bold Large ✗ DNP 1.10
#D2E1EB	Normal Large Bold Large ✗ DNP 1.12	Normal Large Bold Large ✓ AA 5.24	Normal Large Bold Large ✗ DNP 1.05		Normal Large Bold Large ✗ DNP 1.05
#DDE8C6	Normal Large Bold Large ✗ DNP 1.17	Normal Large Bold Large ✓ AA 5.48	Normal Large Bold Large ✗ DNP 1.10	Normal Large Bold Large ✗ DNP 1.05	+ Select 6th color

STRUCTURAL RAMIFICATIONS

SHARED GOALS

SYMBOLIC

Bill: Didn't the secretary tell you that we're in a meeting right now? If you'll wait outside, I'll be able to see you in about an hour.

Cindy: [smiling] Maybe this is just the traditional initiation ritual in this department, Bill, but let me ask a question. If one of our customers came through the door right now, would you ask her to wait outside for an hour?

Bill: If she just came barging in like you did, sure.

SYMBOLIC RAMIFICATIONS

Cindy recognizes newcomers usually experience an initial test or “hazing.” Instead of engaging in a personal confrontation with Bill, she focuses on the department’s core values. She brings her “customer first” commitment with her, but she avoids positioning that value as something imposed from outside. Instead, she grounds it in an experience everyone in the room has just shared: the way she was greeted when she entered.

HUMAN RESOURCE

Bill: Didn't the secretary tell you that we're in a meeting right now? If you'll wait outside, I'll be able to see you in about an hour.

Cindy: I'm sorry if I'm interrupting, but I'm eager to get started, and I'll need all your help. [She walks around, introduces herself, and shakes hands with each member of her new staff. Howard scowls silently.] Bill, could we take a few minutes to talk about how we can work together on the transition, now that I'm coming in to manage the department?

Bill: You're not the manager yet. I was asked to stay on for a week to get you started—though, frankly, I doubt

HUMAN RESOURCE RAMIFICATIONS

Cindy listens carefully to Bill but gently stands her ground. She positions herself as an observer, thus gaining an opportunity to learn more about her staff and the issues they are addressing.

POLITICAL

Bill: Didn't the secretary tell you that we're in a meeting right now? If you'll wait outside, I'll be able to see you in about an hour.

Cindy: [pleasantly] Bill, if it's okay with you, I'd prefer to skip the games and go to work. I expect this department to be a winner, and I hope that's what we all want. I also would like to manage the transition in a way that's good for your career, Bill, and for the careers of others in the room.

Bill: If I need advice from you on my career, I'll ask.

POLITICAL RAMIFICATIONS

Cindy deftly deflates Bill's posturing by asking whether he wants to go with her to talk to the vice president. Clearly, she is confident of her political support and knows that his bluster has little to back it up. Cindy draws on her power resources. She conserves her political capital and takes charge while leaving Bill with as much pride as possible, achieving something closer to a win-win outcome.

SCENARIO 2:
WHO WILL YOU PROMOTE?

SLIDE #4.1

STEFAN CHOOSES WHO TO PROMOTE

PROMOTION DECISION

Structural

What are the specific role requirements for the senior position?

MAKING DECISIONS

Structural

Veronica

- Strong mentoring skills
- Promotion may keep her on the team

Alex

- Share secrets of success to build others' skills
- Another Point that is good
- The 3rd point goes here

Return to Main Menu

MAKING DECISIONS

Political

Veronica

- Strong mentoring skills
- Promotion may keep her on the team

Alex

- Share secrets of success to build others' skills
- Another Point that is good
- The 3rd point goes here

Return to Main Menu

MAKING DECISIONS

Human Resource

Veronica

- Strong mentoring skills
- Promotion may keep her on the team

Alex

- Share secrets of success to build others' skills

Return to Main Menu

MAKING DECISIONS

Symbolic

Veronica

- Strong mentoring skills
- Promotion may keep her on the team

Alex

- Share secrets of success to build others' skills

Return to Main Menu

Onscreen submit button – below choices

Who are the key stakeholders affected by this decision, and what are their interests?

Structural

Human Resource

Symbolic

Political

SUBMIT

PREV

NEXT

Onscreen submit button – replace next button

Who are the key stakeholders affected by this decision, and what are their interests?

Structural

Human Resource

Symbolic

Political

PREV

SUBMIT

Onscreen submit button – grouped icons

Who are the key stakeholders affected by this decision, and what are their interests?

Structural

Political

Symbolic

Human Resource

SUBMIT

PREV

NEXT

